Description

Tutech Innovation GmbH (TUTECH) is a private company with a public mission to promote effective transfer and exploitation of knowledge, especially by sharing and using science and technology for wealth creation and the benefit of society. We support collaboration between all Hamburg higher education institutes and provide services to universities and businesses further afield. As EEN partner in the city of Hamburg our main task is cross border partnering for business and research within all sectors, especially those with high relevance for Hamburg's economy like maritime industries, aviation, logistics, renewable energies, life science, creative industries and ICT.
